SUIT IS INSTITUTED IN EQUITY COURT BY CITIZENS AGAINST WATER COMPANY

Three Prominent Men of This Place Take Action In Effort To Have The Service Improved---Make Strong Allegations.

FIT ONLY FOR STREET WASHING

In Lengthy Statement Plaintiffs Make Plain A Few Things Concerning The Company's System.

A bill in equity has been filed against the Charleroi Water company by Frank Riva, Charles Schmeiler and Joseph A. Hepler, well known citizens of this place. It is alleged that the company has an exclusive franchise to furnish water to the boroughs of Charleroi and North Charleroi and that filthy, impure and unclean water is supplied the citizens at exorbitant rates. The court is prayed to investigate the evils complained of and to restrain the company from collecting any water rents until matters are remedied.

It is set forth that the company derives its supply from the Monongahela river, which is muddy, filthy, impure and unclean in character and quality, and unfit to supply the citizens. In addition to the water supply received from the Monongahela river a large portion of the water is obtained from Maple creek without any effort on the part of the water company to purify the water which is foul, filthy, impure and unclean.

It is also alleged that the Monongahela river is the natural drainage of a large territory lying south of the boroughs of Charleroi and North Charleroi which is thickly populated and receives into it the flow of sewage, waste, etc., of numerous boroughs, villages, mines and factories located within the territory drained by it; and in addition, the said Monongahela river, at and above the intake pipe of the defendant company is not a free flowing stream, but the flow thereof, at such point, is impeded by a dam known as Lock 4, across the said river, below the said intake pipe, thereby causing the foreign matter in the water of the river to settle and accumulate about the said intake pipe; and that Maple creek, the only other source of supply from which water is drawn by the defendant company is the natural drainage channel for a portion of the borough of Charleroi and a large populous district, into which flows the waste and sewage from slaughter houses, dwellings, stables and barns, within the watershed which is drained by it; and the water from said Maple creek is not good, pure, clean and healthful, but on the contrary is wholy unfit for domestic use.

It is also alleged that the pipes, reservoir and sources of supply of the Charleroi Water company are and have been for a long time in a dirty, filthy and impure condition; that the company has not heretofore, nor does it now properly filter the water furnished the citizens either before pumping the same from the river or creek to the reservoir, or before passing the water from the reservoir into the supply pipes or mains; that the company endeavors to operate its plant with such defective and inadequate pipes and equipment that it frequently is unable to furnish an adequate supply of water in the event of fire, and that the property of one of the orators and other residents are almost uniformly out of water.

It is also complained that the rates for water rents are excessive, unfair, unjust, extortionate and oppressive, and are unequal and the rules of the company regarding the furnishing of waer and collections thereof are unjust and unreasonable.

The court is prayed to investigate and determine whether or not the supply of water furnished by the company is of proper and fit quality for use by the orators and other residents; to hear and determine as to the charges for the water furnished; to make such order in the premises as may seem just and equitable to compel the water company to correct the evils complained of, and to enjoin and restrain the water company from collecting any rents for the services performed by it until such time as it shall have corrected the evils complained of; to make an order directing and requiring company to furnish an adequate supply of pure water, and to decree that the charges for water should be just, equitable and uniform.

TWO FIRES AT MONONGAHELA

One Last Night Which Does Damage To Extent Of $2,000.

Last night a house belongig to Mark Hilton at the corner of Eleventh and Chess streets, Monongahela, was destroyed by fire, the loss being about $2,000. The flames originated at about 1:30 o'clock from a defective flue.

The alarm was sent in and the firemen responded as quckly as possible, but by the time they were on the scene, the fire was burning furiously and the best they could do was to confine the flames to the one building. The furniture was saved from the place. The adjoining buildings were damaged slightly.

At 10:30 o'clock this morning an alarm of fire was sent in from Lincoln avenue, Monongahela, and the firemen responded promptly. The flames were found to be in the house of Thomas E. McPherson. Two beds in different rooms were destroyed, but the building was slightly damaged.

CONSTRUCTION OF STREET RAILWAY LINE IS STARTED

Work started yesterday on the Donora-Eldora street railway line and about 30 men and four wagons are busy, at work grading on Castner avenue, Donora, between Fifth street and McCrea avenue.

Not many of the paved streets will be torn up this winter but work will proceed where the roads are dirt. The rate at which the workmen are going will bring about great results this fall and it will not be much later than next June before the line will be completed.

BOTTLING DEPARTMENT IS BROKEN OPEN

The bottling department of the Charleroi Brewery of the Independent Brewery company was broken open last night by burglars and two cases of beer taken.

Mrs. D. R. Duvall is a Pittsburg visitor today.

KNIGHTS OF MALTA TO CONFER DEGREE

Lodges Will Convene In This Place On November 10th.

The Charleroi order Knights of Malta, Valley Echo Commandery, No. 379, are arranging for a big meeting to be held here on Tuesday, November 10th when the Apron Green degree will be conferred. In this the lodges from the following towns will be interested and send representatives: Monongahela, Donora, Belle Vernon, Monessen, Fayette City, Brownsville, Bentleyville, Perryopolis.

The White Degree was put on at Monongahela on Tuesday evening, Oct. 6. There are twelve degrees that can be taken in the United States and all of these can be secured in the Monongahela Valley, as a result of the associations recently formed.

METHODISTS ARE ARRANGING FOR A BIG RALLY

Next Sunday the Methodist Episcopal church and Sunday school will hold Rally Day services. A speaker of national reputation, Rev. Camden M. Cobern professor of English Bible and Philosophy in Allegheny College will be here and preach in the morning. In the evening he will deliver his great lecture on "The Bible, a Twentieth Century Book."

In the morning at the Sunday school hour, 9:30, a special program of music will be rendered and addresses will be made, principal among which will be one by Mrs. Mary L. Stewart, a prominent county Surday school worker.

The principal speaker of the day, Dr. Cobern, has occupied the pulpits of some of the largest churches in the United States. He was associated with Dr. Flinders Petrie, who is celebrated as an excavator of ruined cities of the East. Dr. Cobern himself made the discovery of the ruines of an old time city of Egypt, built by the Israelites during their captivity there.

ARE SAID TO BE IMPERSONATING WARDEN

It has been reported to the local officers that three men are traveling over Washington county representing themselves to be deputy game wardens and make a specialty of holding up foreigners.

Saturday the men held up three foreigners near Manifold and after making them hand over $25 a piece took their guns. The three foreigners claim the trio represented themselves to be officers and threatened imprisonment if they did not come up with the money.

The victims say two of the men were smooth-faced while the other had a sandy mustache.

A hunting party consisting of Mr. P. Calistri, Messrs. Frank Riva, G. Pieri and Louis Parenti of Belle Vernon are out on a week's hunting trip in Greene county.

MINE FIRE RAGING IN FAYETTE CO.

Fire At Star Junction For a Time Threatened Serious Consequences.

NOW UNDER CONTROL

Fire which started at 1 o'clock yesterday morning is raging in the No. 1 mine of the Washington Run Coal and Coke company at Star Junction near Fayette City and has reached serious proportions and the extent it will assume is yet to be determined.

There were two men in the mine, the timberman and the operator of the fan, and after they discovered the fire they escaped from one of the openings to the mine. The fire started at the bottom of the 60 foot shaft and while there are several theories as to the origin the one that seems most plauseble is that it started from the explosion of a compressed air pipe.

The air in the mine has been in the very best condition and it is claimed that the cause was purely accidental and did not result from negligence of any kind.

The No 1. mine is a large one, there being 500 ovens in the plant which is operated from this mine. O. S. Blair is the superintendent and the works have been running steadily throughout the depression. M. M. Cochran of Uniontown is president of the company.

Three streams of water were directed on the fire and it was driven away from the bottom of the shaft, but is still burning on the sides. The water is secured from the reservoirs of the company and the supply is limited on account of the prolonged drouth. The condition is serious, but the fire is being fought with all the facilities at the comamnd of the company.

So far the fire fighters have succeeded in confining the flames to the shaft. As all the wood work in the four sides of the opening has already been consumed there is believed to be no danger of the fire reaching the coal tipple constructed over the opening and which is considered one of the finest in the Western Pennsylvania coal fields. The mine is now being flooded.

More Interest Is Manifested

Last night a large crowd attended the evangelistic service at the Washington avenue church, than was ever before known on a Monday evening at any church of Charleroi, at a similar service. Rev. Hendrick and Mr. Carter conducted an excellent service on the street at 7 o'clock, before going to the church and were listened to by a large crowd of people. At the close of this meeting a number expressed their willingness to lead a better life

The song service at the church was intensely interesting. The sermon which followed by Rev. Hendrick was forceful and the speaker told many truths. His subject was "Remember Lot's Wife." Dr. Hendrick made the companion of the warning, sin and subsequent punishment of Lot's wife to the warning sin and the punishment which we will receive if we do not obey the voice of God.

CATSBURG MINES RESUMES IN FULL

Catsburg mine resumed operation yesterday in full, which will give employment to several hundred men in this immediate vicinity. On Saturday the Diamond mine, which has been in constant operation for some time, shut down for an indefinite period. The closing of one mine, and the resumption of another, is in accord with the policy of the River Coal company to distribute the work as much as possible among their men. Catsburg has been idle for sometime, and this resumption will give them a share of the mining now going on along the river.

PROHIBITIONISTS AND DEMOCRATS ARE FIGHTING LEGISLATIVE TICKETS

Washington, Pa., Oct, 20.—The Prohibitionists, supported by Congressman Acheson and his newspaper are making a fight against the Republican legislative candidates, selected by a large majority of the voters last April. They are also supporting two Democratic candidates, representatives of an enemy party, according to the Prohibition platform.

Unfortunately, perhaps, the Prohibitionists and local optionists cannot agree, while the Anti-Saloon League is going on quietly on its own hook, doing good here and there, as is better explained by Hon. John L. Shea, in Acheson's "Reporter." "The League is abused by Democrats as a Republican side show, assailed by Republicans as a Democratic "scheme," and criticised by some Prohibitionists as a "compromise with iniquity."

Simply because Bentley, Carothers and Holland refused to support Acheson at the April primaries the latter has made the Prohibition leader believe that the three men will abuse their office, violate their oaths and will support the liqour interests regardless of the homes and conscience. What proof is there of this? Acheson, is that enough?

Bentley was good enough for Acheson when he was getting the formers support, as is shown in an Acheson editorial in the Observer, Oct. 22, 1906 which reads:—"The Republicans in Washington county have a strong legislative ticket in Craven, Sprowls and Bentley. These men were named by a majority of the Republicans free and open primaries and represent the people. They do not owe their nominations to a few men who nominate in back offices."

The nice things said about the two other candidates after Acheson "awakened to find himself a boss" makes his stand inconsistent as the principal prop of the Prohibition organization in Washington county, and it is only fair that the voters should appreciate it. Acheson in the Observer, Sept. 15, 1905 wrote:—"The man who resorts to dishonest methods even for the cause of reform is one of the wost kinds of grafters."

THOUGHT FORESTS OF THIS COUNTY WERE ON FIRE

Yesterday Charleroi and vicinity was covered by a pall of smoke caused by extensive forest fires in the mountains near Greensburg and Ligonier. It was rumored about several times that there were forests on fire in Washington county but inquiry proved the rumors were unfounded. The pall of smoke was general all over the southeastern part of the state.

Word from Greensburg was to the effect that several large hills of timber were on fire and for a time it was reported that Oakford park was on fire. This report was unfounded. The fire, which promises no immediate danger, is principally confined to the Grapeville gas field.

In the section of Ligonier the mountain ridges are on fire and all along the crest of the Chestnut Ridge mountains extending to Mt. Pleasant, are on fire. It is more than likely the smoke from this fire that is visible in Charleroi come from the latter fire. It is said that a small boy is responsible for the fire in Chestnut Ridge.

Was Formerly From Charleroi

Dr. H. A. Wright, who claims himself to be a former practising physician, several years ago in this place, has been arrested in the Cowanshannock Clay mines, near Kittanning, for desertion and non-support. He is said to have lived with other women. He led quite a gay life in the vicinity of where he was employed and made little effort, it is said to conceal his identity. Dr. Wright has been married twice, having been divorced from his former wife and deserting his second wife and little daughter.

Dr. Wright according to his own statement pacticed medicine in Charleroi, Pittsburg, and West Winfield, the latter in Butler county.

Subpoena in Divorce

A subpoena in divorce has been awarded in the case of Patterson E. Everett vs. Mollie Everett. The libellant is of Charleroi and desertion is alleged.

BENTLEYVILLE TELEPHONE LINE IS EXTENDING

Beallsville, Oct. 19.—The Bentleyville Telephone company is building an independent line from Bentleyville to Ellsworth. This line will be of great service, as it will place Bentleyville in direct communication with Cokeburg, Scenery Hill, Ellsworth and Marianna. Before it was necessary to go through Brownsville or Pittsburg central to reach these places. Leo Wetzler has charge of the work and will have it completed soon.

Wood Pulp And Saw Mill Waste.

To insure a pulp wood supply to meet adequately the future needs of the country seems one of the most important of the many forest problems of the United States. Statistics collected by government experts, however, show that there are possibilities in the field of invention for the relief of the drain on the country's remaining pulp wood forests by devising means of utilizing saw mill waste.

It is estimated that there are 4 1-2 million cords of slabs destroyed in refuse burners of the lumber mills of the country each year. The wood used for pulp last year amounted to approximately 4 million cords, about a quarter of which had to be imported. The mill-waste estimate is based on a recent canvass of some of the larger mills of the country by the United States Forest Service, which established the interesting fact that mills having an aggregate cut of 5,110 million board feet had a final waste of 1,870,000 cords of slabs after the best had been used for lath. Assuming these mills to be representative, it is seen that there is still considerable waste in forest products at the mill even after the earnest efforts of lumbermen during the last ten years to bring about a closer utilization of the whole tree.

These figures make it look as if American inventors, who are performing wonderful feats in other fields, should get down to the consideration of methods these waste slabs available for the pulp makers. Work along this line would also be likely to show the way for utilization of thousands of tons of sawdust which are now wasted each year.

It is true that some utilization is being made of mill waste at present, but in most cases it is only the larger and more modern plants that are even making any attempt in this line. Then, as it is, the plants which use the waste slabs, after laths are made, often waste the sawdust, and those which use the sawdust waste the slabs. The slab residue from the lumber out of the country is estimated to amount to about 1 million cords, of which about 6 million, with an average value of $1.40 a cord, is sold for fuel, 3 1-2 million burned by the mills of fuel, and 4 1-2 millions sent to the refuse burners. This last figure shows the enormous quantity of forest product that is pure waste.

The iron furnace slag heaps have been seized upon by the brick maker, and the screening dump of the coal mines has become a valuable source of raw material for the briquette manufacturer. Experts say that it may prove possible to make just as good use of the waste heaps of the lumber mills if slabs and sawdust can be converted into pulp.

The Home is Not Passing

Out of statistics which appear to show that one woman in every five in the United States has become a wage-earner a woman writer in the Broadway Magazine evolves a conception of mild hysteria "How long will it be," she asks, "before the home, except for rich people, will be as absolete as stage-coaches, hoopskirts and merry Christmas?"

To which the answer is: As long as never.

A little statistics is a perilous thing. It leads to fatal generalization and a moral disregard of the state of things. In this particular case it has led the lady of the magazine to visit upon the country at large the especial burden of the few great cities—of New York in particular.

The great companies of woman workers who make up the one-in-five ratio are concentrated bodies. They appear in force in a few congested communities. In the major portion of the land they are not a significant quantity. And even in the cities where they throng they have not in the mass "abandoned the domestic life." Year after year yields its brides from the ranks of stenographers, shop-girls, factory girls and teachers, and for each bride a new home opens. Besides, the fact is overlooked by the magazine writers that on the roll of woman wage-earners is a vast contingent of workers whose duties are purely of the household.

There are more American homes than there ever were before. The number is increasing. As always, many are happy and some are sad. As ever, many are poor; many are comfortably prosperous, some are rich. Times change, but these main facts do not change with them.

Electric Sparks.

Now isn't that too bad. A rector of a fashionable church of Lenox, Mass., has barred reporters from his church. Guess he thinks they do not need religion. Perhaps they don't—any more than he and some of his congregation.

Rumor says that the republic of Liberia is about to confer upon Booker T. Washington the order of African Redemption. It couldn't honor a worthier citizen.

New York state has an excitable parson who holds that John D. Rockerfeller is a worse man than Benedict Arnold ever was. At least he has been much more successful.

In about two weeks now wheelbarrow stunts and peanut rolling performances will be in order.

Wonder if Ernie F. thinks he is running for Congress this year.

The ancients in political battles find it impossible to keep out of the fray, either in their own names, or backing men parties, while pretending to be vitally interested in the one that sent them to office in the past.

Tee! He! Our democratic friends are quite hopeful of electing part of their ticket. They depend upon republicans to do it.

With all, it does not seem that Hiskell contributed as much as $100. Perhaps he thinks he did enough for the Bryan cause when he retired from it, by request.

The allegation of fewer automobile run-overs raises a question as to the cause. Have the pedestrians become more proficient in dodging?

Another thing that makes man realize that time is passing along is to come across that opera hat which he used to be willing, and sometimes even eager, to wear.

A libel suit began in a Nebraska court by a citizen of Oklahoma against a citizen of New York for a speech made in Tennessee and published by a newspaper in Illinois come pretty nearly being eligible for removal to the United States courts as [inter-State commerce.

One is tempted to think that that war scare about the Balkans was just another fake by the London newspapers. This time they also took a crack at Emperor Billy of Germany.

The young Chicagoian who blames his downfall on wine, women and song needn't drag in the song. The man who goes to the dogs doesn't do so because of his fine ear for music.

Some men have become so used to the new style hats the girls are wearing that they have quit crossing the street when they see one coming.

It might help along the jury reform business a good deal too, if some eminent citizens could so arrange their health that they wouldn't get sick enough to require the treatment of a doctor's certificate as soon as a summons for jury duty is served on them.

First Case Under New Law.

Six thousand dollars was the amount of damages awarded by a jury in the United States district court at Spokane, Washington, to Charles N. Roush, a brakeman, who sued the Great Northern Railway company for $15,000 damages under the employer's liability act. This was the first case tried in Washington under the statute passed by the legislatue of 1907, becoming a law last June, and, as a similar action, instituted by Stephen S. Shielfd against the same company, was settled out of court after the jurors returned a sealed verdict in the Rousch suit, it is not believed the company will take further contest. Rousch was crushed while coupling cars at Deer Park, near there, and alleged in his complaint that the engineer was intoxicated while on duty in the locomotive The new law applies only in interstate commerce cases. It does away with the negligence of fellow employes and modifies the doctrine of contributary negligence, upon which plea by the defendants early every case insituted in the last few years has been thrown out by the federal court.

Tragedy of a Kiss.

An Atchison romance: He had not known her long, but as she stood in the moonlight a white dress and a blue sash set off her figure so well that he thought he had never seen a prettier picture. And then he did an awful thing: he kissed her. The innocent girl shrank from him in horror and the young man realized that he had Gone Too Far. Indeed, as the panting girl strove to collect herself sufficiently to express the scorn surging in her bosom the young man thought of the beating he must endure the next day from her father and brothers and of the long accounts of the flight that would appear in the newspapers. Fortunately, he had his hat in his hand and turned to go. But the girl struggled to speak; she would express her contempt for his action though it killed her. "When," she said, in a low, faltering voice, full of deep-seated hatred, "are you coming again?"—Atchison Globe.

Is New York Going "Song Mad?"

Busy New Yorkers may race for the almighty dollar by day, but when night comes they demand music—the best and lots of it Of the musical plays now drawing "crowded houses," Lulu Glaser's "Mademoiselle Mischief," the Lyric, is perhaps offering the theatre goers the catchiest music. Their best song is so good that arrangements have been made to have it printed—both words and music—as a special feature in next Sunday's New York World. FOR YOU, YOUNG MAN

The Christian Union Herald's Call to "Young People" to Vote for the Prohibition Standard Bearers.

The Christian Union Herald, the organ of the young people's movement in the United Presbyterian church, a very influential paper of wide circulation, says to its readers:

"For years the advocate of temperance, when urging the Christian voters to record their convictions on this most vital matter, have received the answer:

"Wait, wait, wait. Wait until the tariff question and the currency question, and every other question that could be trumped up, has been settled; then we can take up the temperance question." And we have waited, and waited, and waited—until our hearts have grown sick and faint; waited while every year the number who are carried into a drunkard's grave and a drunkard's hell has grown fearfully larger year by year; waited while wives have been crying out because of the oppression under which their lives are being ground down to earth, waited while children are crying for shoes and bread, and their lives are being blighted by the overshadowing curse. Oh, must we wait forever? If our hopes are placed in the old dominant parties, we hope in vain—unless enough Christian people register their convictions to convince the old parties that they must take up this issue or die. When will there be a better time, young people, for you to cast your ballot for God and home and native land than by casting your vote for Chafin and Watkins, the standard bearers for Prohibition in 1908?"

FEEBLE OLD LADY

Has Strength Restored By Vinol

Mrs. Michael Bloom, of Lewistown, Pa., who is 80 years of age, says: "For a long time I have been so feeble that I have had to be wheeled around in an invalid's chair. I had no strength and took cold at the slightest provocation, which invariably settled on my lungs, and a cough would result. My son learned of the cod liver preparation called Vinol, and procured a bottle for me. It built up my strength rapidly, and after taking three bottles I am able to do most of my work, and I can walk a quarter of a mile easily. Every aged or weak person who requires strength should try Vinol. I am delighted with what it has done for me."

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, and after sickness, Vinol is unexcelled. If it fails to give satisfaction we will return your money.

CORKS HAVE DISEASES.

Caused by a Small Worm Which Spoils the Flavor of the Best Wines.

"To the average person a cork is a cork," said a well known restaurant man the other day. "But smell this cordial. Would you believe it?" And he held up a bottle supposed to have the bouquet of cherries all the way from the blossom to the pit. The odor was musty and altogether unpleasant—in fact, it was decidedly bad. He continued:

"Now, the man paying 20 cents for his tiny glass of cordial after dinner is entitled to have it free from imperfections. If he bought a bottle of wine with that flavor, he would say the wine was bad, for ninety men out of a hundred know nothing about bad corks. He would want another bottle of wine or his money refunded, and he would be right.

"The defect is in a tiny worm in the cork that is often invisible to the man cutting cork; and sometimes cannot be seen after the cork is drawn. A customer will taste the wine and say, 'Bad wine.' You explain about the cork, and he will say: 'Impossible. That was a beautiful cork—beautiful.' And yet we know that the contents of the bottle never could have that flavor under other conditions.

"I tell you there are millions of dollars waiting for the man who can invent a perfect cork that will stand the test of years for flavor and preserving qualities. If it could be proved that his invention was perfect, he would make millions in a month."—New York Herald.

MRS. ANDREW JOHNSON.

The Life In Washington Was Not a Happy Time For Her.

Mrs. Johnson was so much of an invalid that outside of intimate family friends very few knew her. She appeared only twice in public during her husband's administration. Still, her influence was a strong one, and it was exerted in the direction of toleration and gentleness. A slight movement of her hands, a touch on her husband's arm, a "Now, Andrew," made it easy to see that the woman who had helped him through his struggling youth and given her health to his service, who had taught him to write and had read to him through long winter evenings in the little tailor shop that his active mind might be fed while he was practicing his trade, still held her place in his life. She was a sweet faced woman who showed traces of beauty through the sharpened lines caused by the old fashioned consumption which was wearing her out. Her face was not unlike that of the late Mrs. McKinley. The death of her eldest son was a blow from which she never fully recovered. The life in Washington was not a happy time for her. She told me herself that she was far more content when her husband was an industrious young tailor.—William H Crook in Century

Nubar Pasha and the Pipes.

Soon after the occupation of Cairo by the British troops the late Nubar Pasha took a prodigious fancy to the music of the Black Watch and had the idea of having a servant taught the use of the bagpipes. Nubar dispatched a French friend, who spoke English very well, to interview a piper on the subject.

Donald replied: "Weel, he micht learn or he micht no'. Bit, let me tell ye, it needs wind an' mickle strength tae fill the bags o' the pipes an' keep blawin'. Sae if yin o' thae Egyptian chaps took the job on he'd need tae be bandaged an' ow're like yin o' thae auld mummies, or maybe he'd burst himsel'."

This conversation was reported to Nubar, who took the piper's remarks seriously. So he gave up the idea of having a skirler attached to his household, as the use of the bagpipes was attended with the prospect of such danger to the performer.—Westminster Gazette.

Depth of Cyclones.

From the study of clouds an official of the United States weather bureau concludes that ordinary cyclones which traverse our country from west to east are not more than two or three miles in depth, although their diameter is many hundreds of miles. In other words, their motion does not affect the upper regions of the atmosphere. In the case of hurricanes this authority finds that the depth is greater, amounting to as much as five or six miles. But higher currents blow directly across the cyclonic and anticyclonic areas which produce storms and fair weather at the surface of the earth.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Easy Money.

Theodore Hook was one of the Garrick club's most famous members. He generally arrived at the club late in the afternoon and "never went home till morning." He had been told by the doctors, he said, to avoid the night air. A member of the club in Hook's time predicted the advent of the millennium at the end of three years. "All right," cried Hook. "Give me a five pound note now, and I will repay you £50 at the millennium."

Making More Than a Living

Nearly every man who works steadily makes more than a living. During these slow times the men who have saved something appreciate what it is to have something laid away for a rainy day. A few cents a day soon counts up, and when savings are placed in a bank at a tidy interest the sum soon grows to proportions that make it a safeguard against want when work is not plentiful. Figure up how much more than a living you are making now, and place the difference in this bank. Four per cent. interest paid in savings department.

BRIDGE BONDS ARE ACCEPTED

The county commissioners have received word from Hayden-Miller and Co., of Cleveland, O., that they have fully inquired into the bonds of the county recently awarded them upon their bid, and that they find them all right and will take the issues at the bid made. The amount of the bond issue is $125,000, and the money derived from the sale will be used in paying this county's share in the erection of the bridge over the Monongahela river at Monongahela.

Following the opening of the bids and the awarding of the bonds to the Cleveland firm there was some little hitch over the constitutionality of the act under which the bonds were authorized. The question hinged on the point that the act providing for the issuance of the bonds for bridge building by the county commissioners was not included in the governor's call for the meeting of the legislature, at which meeting the bond issuing law was issued. The company has evidently decided that everything is satisfactory.

The Fort Pitt Bridge company, of Canonsburg, has been awarded the contract for the erection of the bridge, and unless there is some hitch in Allegheny county there appears to be nothing to hinder the signing up of the contract for the erection of the bridge.

COMES OUT FOR SCHOOL PHYSICIANS

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Schaeffer comes out flatfooted for medical inspection of pupils and the establishment of medical aid and nurses for schools where large numbers of pupils are gathered. He discusses the retardation of pupils in the second section of his report and lays the blame for considerable of it on physical defects.

The doctor says: "Justice to the child demands that everything possible should be done, at public expense, if need be, to remedy defects of eye and ear. Children are the most precious heritage of the commonwealth and the neglect of their physical well-being is today a source of the greatest waste of our national resources."

Dr. Schaeffer also declares that many of the counties are so large and the schools so numerous that superintendents cannot give them the supervision they should have, and urges appropriation by local authorities to employ assistants, as is done in Allegheny county, whose policy he commends.

Stone Road

A good stone road is now being built by the Ellsworth company from the Yaunacci store to Ellsworth. This with other improvements will give Bentleyville good roads to Beallsville, Charleroi and Ellsworth.

A PRECARIOUS EXISTENCE.

Mental Tribulations of the Superstitious Woman.

The superstitious woman started to go downtown, but found that she had forgotten something. It was hard work to get her to go back for it, but when she did sat down for a few minutes to "take the curse off" before going out again. On the sidewalk she passed a cross eyed man and had hard work to keep from spitting three times over her left shoulder. The first car that came along was No. 13. She let it go by and waited eight minutes for another. On the way downtown she remarked to a friend that she "had been in excellent health lately." Instantly she was obliged to loose her glove and rub her bare palm on the wood of the bench before her. As she and her friend were walking on Twenty-third street some thoughtless person darted between them. The superstitious woman was much disturbed and worried over the thought of a coming separation.

That night her husband upset the saltcellar. She insisted on his taking a pinch of the salt and throwing it over his shoulder. When she disrobed for the night she discovered that she had been wearing one stocking wrong side out all day. It was the sign of good luck, and it allowed her to go to bed happy. But some time in the night a dog howled dismally under her window. From that moment she has been looking for a calamity. Nothing will make her believe that there will not soon be a death in her immediate family.—St. Louis Republic.

When the Noise Let Up.

Two young women of stolid, common sense appearance were the sole feminine occupants of a subway car until there entered a flashily dressed girl, with face made up like a cosmetic advertisement and accompanied by a young man attired in the "extreme." The two young women eyed the newcomer with interest while they continued their conversation. The train slowed down at the next station, the rattle and bang of operation ceased and the voice of one of the young women became suddenly audible:

"If I had a face like that, do you know what I'd do? I'd hock it."

The girl with the makeup looked daggers, her escort looked foolish, the speaker looked out of the window and a dozen passengers looked as though they enjoyed it.—New York Globe.

His Insignia.

The mayor of Z. is a self made man, and, as in the case of so many of that kind, not too much attention was paid to his early education. A little while ago a gentleman who was engaged in compiling a work on corporation regalia wrote to his worship requesting a photograph of his insignia. The mayor by return of post replied that he was only too pleased to accede to the other's wish. "But," he wrote, "instead of a mere photograph I beg to send you the genuine article." And there followed immediately underneath in good round copperplate the mayoral signature.—London Answers.

Circumstances Alter Cases.

Lady (entering breathless)—I want to stop the divorce suit! Lawyer—Why, you said your husband was an abominable, beastly brute and you wanted to be rid of him at any cost! Lady—Oh, yes; I know. But now an automobile has run over him, and I want you to start suit for damages.—Lippincott's Magazine.

He Smoked.

"What do you mean by smoking my pipe, young man?" queried the stern father of a precocious five-year-old.

"Mamma said if I teased the cat again she'd make me smoke for it," explained the little fellow, "and I teased her again."—Chicago News.

After all, it is the imponderables that move the world—heat, electricity, love.—Holmes.

SUIT IS INSTITUTED IN EQUITY COURT BY CITIZENS AGAINST WATER COMPANY

Three Prominent Men of This Place Take Action In Effort To Have The Service Improved---Make Strong Allegations.

FIT ONLY FOR STREET WASHING

In Lengthy Statement Plaintiffs Make Plain A Few Things Concerning The Company's System.

A bill in equity has been filed against the Charleroi Water company by Frank Riva, Charles Schmeiler and Joseph A. Hepler, well known citizens of this place. It is alleged that the company has an exclusive franchise to furnish water to the boroughs of Charleroi and North Charleroi and that filthy, impure and unclean water is supplied the citizens at exorbitant rates. The court is prayed to investigate the evils complained of and to restrain the company from collecting any water rents until matters are remedied.

It is set forth that the company derives its supply from the Monongahela river, which is muddy, filthy, impure and unclean in character and quality, and unfit to supply the citizens. In addition to the water supply received from the Monongahela river a large portion of the water is obtained from Maple creek without any effort on the part of the water company to purify the water which is foul, filthy, impure and unclean.

It is also alleged that the Monongahela river is the natural drainage of a large territory lying south of the boroughs of Charleroi and North Charleroi which is thickly populated and receives into it the flow of sewage, waste, etc., of numerous boroughs, villages, mines and factories located within the territory drained by it; and in addition, the said Monongahela river, at and above the intake pipe of the defendant company is not a free flowing stream, but the flow thereof, at such point, is impeded by a dam known as Lock 4, across the said river, below the said intake pipe, thereby causing the foreign matter in the water of the river to settle and accumulate about the said intake pipe; and that Maple creek, the only other source of supply from which water is drawn by the defendant company is the natural drainage channel for a portion of the borough of Charleroi and a large populous district, into which flows the waste and sewage from slaughter houses, dwellings, stables and barns, within the watershed which is drained by it; and the water from said Maple creek is not good, pure, clean and healthful, but on the contrary is wholy unfit for domestic use.

It is also alleged that the pipes, reservoir and sources of supply of the Charleroi Water company are and have been for a long time in a dirty, filthy and impure condition; that the company has not heretofore, nor does it now properly filter the water furnished the citizens either before pumping the same from the river or creek to the reservoir, or before passing the water from the reservoir into the supply pipes or mains; that the company endeavors to operate its plant with such defective and inadequate pipes and equipment that it frequently is unable to furnish an adequate supply of water in the event of fire, and that the property of one of the orators and other residents are almost uniformly out of water.

It is also complained that the rates for water rents are excessive, unfair, unjust, extortionate and oppressive, and are unequal and the rules of the company regarding the furnishing of waer and collections thereof are unjust and unreasonable.

The court is prayed to investigate and determine whether or not the supply of water furnished by the company is of proper and fit quality for use by the orators and other residents; to hear and determine as to the charges for the water furnished: to make such order in the premises as may seem just and equitable to compel the water company to correct the evils complained of, and to enjoin and restrain the water company from collecting any rents for the services performed by it until such time as it shall have corrected the evils complained of; to make an order directing and requiring company to furnish an adequate supply of pure water, and to decree that the charges for water should be just, equitable and uniform.

TWO FIRES AT MONONGAHELA

One Last Night Which Does Damage To Extent Of $2,000.

Last night a house belongig to Mark Hilton at the corner of Eleventh and Chess streets, Monongahela, was destroyed by fire, the loss being about $2,000. The flames originated at about 1:30 o'clock from a defective flue.

The alarm was sent in and the firemen responded as quckly as possible, but by the time they were on the scene, the fire was burning furiously and the best they could do was to confine the flames to the one building. The forniture was saved from the place. The adjoining buildings were damaged slightly.

At 10:30 o'clock this morning an alarm of fire was sent in from Lincoln avenue, Monongahela, and the firemen responded promptly. The flames were found to be in the house of Thomas E. McPherson. Two beds in different rooms were destroyed, but the building was slightly damaged.

CONSTRUCTION OF STREET RAILWAY LINE IS STARTED

Work started yesterday on the Donora-Eldora street railway line and about 30 men and four wagons are bosy, at work grading on Castner avenue, Donora, between Fifth street and McCrea avenue.

Not many of the paved streets will be torn up this winter but work will proceed where the roads are dirt. The rate at which the workmen are going will bring about great results this fall and it will not be much later than next June before the line will be completed.

Lodges Will Convene In This Place On November 10th.

The Charleroi order Knights of Malta, Valley Echo Commandery, No. 379, are arranging for a big meeting to be held here on Tuesday, November 10th when the Apron Green degree will be conferred. In this the lodges from the following towns will be interested and send representatives: Monongahela, Donora, Belle Vernon, Monessen, Fayette City, Brownsville, Bentleyville, Perryopolis.

The White Degree was put on at Monongahela on Tuesday evening, Oct. 6. There are twelve degrees that can be taken in the United States and all of these can be secured in the Monongahela Valley, as a result of the associations recently formed.

METHODISTS ARE ARRANGING FOR A BIG RALLY

Next Sunday the Methodist Episcopal church and Sunday school will hold Rally Day services. A speaker of national reputation, Rev. Camden M. Cobern professor of English Bible and Philosophy in Allegheny College will be here and preach in the morning. In the evening he will deliver his great lecture on "The Bible, a Twentieth Century Book."

In the morning at the Sunday school hour, 9:30, a special program of music will be rendered and addresses will be made, principal among which will be one by Mrs. Mary L. Stewart, a prominent county Sunday school worker.

The principal speaker of the day, Dr. Cobern, has occupied the pulpits of some of the largest churches in the United States. He was associated with Dr. Flinders Petrie, who is celebrated as an excavator of ruined cities of the East. Dr. Cobern himself made the discovery of the ruines of an old time city of Egypt, built by the Israelites during their captivity there.

ARE SAID TO BE IMPERSONATING WARDEN

It has been reported to the local officers that three men are traveling over Washington county representing themselves to be deputy game wardens and make a specialty of holding up foreigners.

Saturday the men held up three foreigners near Manifold and after making them hand over $25 a piece took their guns. The three foreigners claim the trio represented themselves to be officers and threatened imprisonment if they did not come up [illegible].

The victims say two of the men were smooth-faced while the other had a sandy mustache.

MINE FIRE RAGING IN FAYETTE CO.

Fire At Star Junction For a Time Threatened Serious Consequences.

NOW UNDER CONTROL

Fire which started at 1 o'clock yesterday morning is raging in the No. 1 mine of the Washington Run Coal and Coke company at Star Junction near Fayette City and has reached serious proportions and the extent it will assume is yet to be determined.

There were two men in the mine, the timberman and the operator of the fan, and after they discovered the fire they escaped from one of the openings to the mine. The fire started at the bottom of the 60 foot shaft and while there are several theories as to the origin the one that seems most plausable is that it started from the explosion of a compressed air pipe.

The air in the mine has been in the very best condition and it is claimed that the cause was purely accidental and did not result from negligence of any kind.

The No 1. mine is a large one, there being 500 ovens in the plant which is operated from this mine. O. S. Blair is the superintendent and the works have been running steadily throughout the depression. M. M. Cochran of Uniontown is president of the company.

Three streams of water were directed on the fire and it was driven away from the bottom of the shaft, but is still burning on the sides. The water is secured from the reservoirs of the company and the supply is limited on account of the prolonged drouth. The condition is serious, but the fire is being fought with all the facilities at the comamnd of the company.

So far the fire fighters have succeeded in confining the flames to the shaft. As all the wood work in the four sides of the opening has already been consumed there is believed to be no danger of the fire reaching the coal tipple constructed over the opening and which is considered one of the finest in the Western Pennsylvania coal fields. The mine is now being flooded.

More Interest Is Manifested

Last night a large crowd attended the evangelistic service at the Washington avenue church, than was ever before known on a Monday evening at any church of Charleroi, at a similar service. Rev. Hendrick and Mr. Carter conducted an excellent service on the street at 7 o'clock, before going to the church and were listened to by a large crowd of people. At the close of this meeting a number expressed their willingness to lead a better life.

The song service at the church was intensely interesting. The sermon which followed by Rev. Hendrick was forceful and the speaker told many truths. His subject was "Remember Lot's Wife." Dr. Hendrick made the companion of the warning, sin and subsequent punishment of Lot's wife to the warning sin and the punishment which we will receive if we do not obey the voice of God.

CATSBURG MINES RESUMES IN FULL

Catsburg mine resumed operation yesterday in full, which will give employment to several hundred men in this immediate vicinity. On Saturday the Dismond mine, which has been in constant operation for some time, shut down for an indefinite period. The closing of one mine, and the resumption of another, is in accord with the policy of the River Coal company to distribute the work as much as possible among their men. Catsburg has been idle for sometime, and this resumption will give them a share of the mining now going on along the river.

Washington, Pa., Oct, 20.—The Prohibitionists, supported by Congressman Acheson and his newspaper are making a fight against the Republican legislative candidates, selected by a large majority of the voters last April. They are also supporting two Democratic candidates, representatives of an enemy party, according to the Prohibition platform.

Unfortunately, perhaps, the Prohibitionists and local optionists cannot agree, while the Anti-Saloon League is [illegible], and is doing good here and there, as is better explained by Hon. John L. Shea, in Acheson's "Reporter." "The League is abused by Democrats as a Republican side show, assailed by Republicans as a Democratic "scheme," and criticised by some Prohibitionists as a "compromise with iniquity."

Simply because Bentley, Carothers and Holland refused to support Acheson at the April primaries the latter has made the Prohibition leader believe that the three men will abuse their office, violate their oaths and will support the liquor interests regardless of the homes and conscience. What proof is there of this? Acheson. Is that enough?

Bentley was good enough for Acheson when he was getting the formers support, as is shown in an Acheson editorial in the Observer, Oct. 22, 1906 which reads:—"The Republicans in Washington county have a strong legislative ticket in Craven, Sprowls and Bentley. These men were named by a majority of the Republicans free and open primaries and represent the people. They do not owe their nominations to a few men who nominate in back offices."

The nice things said about the two other candidates after Acheson "awakened to find himself a boss" makes his stand inconsistent as the principal prop of the Prohibition organization in Washington county, and it is only fair that the voters should appreciate it. Acheson in the Observer, Sept. 15, 1905 wrote:—"The man who resorts to dishonest methods even for the cause of reform is one of the worst kinds of grafters."

THOUGHT FORESTS OF THIS COUNTY WERE ON FIRE

Yesterday Charleroi and vicinity was covered by a pall of smoke caused by extensive forest fires in the mountains near Greensburg and Ligonier. It was rumored about several times that there were forests on fire in Washington county but inquiry proved the rumors were unfounded. The pall of smoke was general all over the southeastern part of the state.

Word from Greensburg was to the effect that several large bills of timber were on fire and for a time it was reported that Oakford park was on fire. This report was unfounded. The fire, which promises no immediate danger, is principally confined to the Grapeville gas field.

In the section of Ligonier the mountain ridges are on fire and all along the crest of the Chestnut Ridge mountains extending to Mt. Pleasant, are on fire. It is more than likely the smoke from this fire that is visible in Caarleroi come from the latter fire. It is said that a small boy is responsible for the fire in Chestnut Ridge.

Was Formerly From Charleroi

Dr. H. A. Wright, who claims himself to be a former practising physician, several years ago in this place, has been arrested in the Cowanshannock Clay mines, near Kittanning, for desertion and non-support. He is said to have lived with other women. He led quite a gay life in the vicinity of where he was employed and made little effort, it is said to conceal his identity. Dr. Wright has been married twice, having been divorced from his former wife and deserting his second wife and little daughter.

Dr. Wright according to his own statement pacticed medicine in Charleroi, Pittsburg, and West Winfield, the latter in Butler county.

Subpoena in Divorce

A subpoena in divorce has been awarded in the case of Patterson E. Everett vs. Mollie Everett. The libellant is of Charleroi and desertion is alleged.

BENTLEYVILLE TELEPHONE LINE IS EXTENDING

Beallsville, Oct. 19.—The Bentleyville Telephone company is building an independent line from Bentleyville to Ellsworth. This line will be of great service, as it will place Bentleyville in direct communication with Cokeburg, Scenery Hill, Ellsworth and Marianna. Before it was necessary to go through Brownsville or Pittsburg central to reach these places. Leo Wetzler has charge of the work and will have it completed soon.

Wood Pulp And Saw Mill Waste.

To insure a pulp wood supply to meet adequately the future needs of the country seems one of the most important of the many forest problems of the United States. Statistics collected by government experts, however, show that there are possibilities in the field of invention for the relief of the drain on the country's remaining pulp wood forests by devising means of utilizing saw mill waste.

It is estimated that there are 4 1-2 million cords of slabs destroyed in refuse burners of the lumber mills of the country each year. The wood used for pulp last year amounted to approximately 4 million cords, about a quarter of which had to be imported. The mill-waste estimate is based on a recent canvass of some of the larger mills of the country by the United States Forest Service, which established the interesting fact that mills having an aggregate cut of 5,440 million board feet had a final waste of 1,870,000 cords of slabs after the best had been used for lath. Assuming these mills to be representative, it is seen that there is still considerable waste in forest products at the mill even after the earnest efforts of lumbermen during the last ten years to bring about a closer utilization of the whole tree.

These figures make it look as if American inventors, who are performing wonderful feats in other fields, should get down to the consideration of methods these waste slabs available for the pulp makers. Work along this line would also be likely to show the way for utilization of thousands of tons of sawdust which are now wasted each year.

It is true that some utilization is being made of mill waste at present, but in most cases it is only the larger and more modern plants that are even making any attempt in this line. Then, as it is, the plants which use the waste slabs, after laths are made, often waste the sawdust, and those which use the sawdust waste the slabs. The slab residue from the lumber out of the country is estimated to amount to about 1 million cords, of which about 6 million, with an average value of $1.40 a cord, is sold for fuel. 3 1-2 million burned by the mills of fuel, and 4 1-2 millions sent to the refuse burners. This last figure shows the enormous quantity of forest product that is pure waste.

The iron furnace slag heaps have been seized upon by the brick maker, and the screening dump of the coal mines has become a valuable source of raw material for the briquette manufacturer. Experts say that it may prove possible to make just as good use of the waste heaps of the lumber mills if slabs and sawdust can be converted into pulp.

The Home is Not Passing.

Out of statistics which appear to show that one woman in every five in the United States has become a wage-earner a woman writer in the Broadway Magazine evolves a condition of mind [illegible] "[illegible] will it be," she asks, "before the home, except for rich people, will be as absolete as stage-coaches, hoop-skirts and merry Christmas?"

To which the answer is: As long as never.

A little statistics is a perilous thing. It leads to fatal generalization and a moral disregard of the state of things. In this particular case it has led the lady of the magazine to visit upon the country at large the especial burden of the few great cities—of New York in particular.

The great companies of woman workers who make up the one-in-five ratio are concentrated bodies. They appear in force in a few congested communities. In the major portion of the land they are not a significant quantity. And even in the cities where they throng they have not in the mass "abandoned the domestic life." Year after year yields its brides from the ranks of stenographers, shop-girls, factory girls and teachers, and for each bride a new home opens. Besides, the fact is overlooked by the magazine writers that on the roll of woman wage-earners is a vast contingent of workers whose duties are purely of the household.

There are more American homes than there ever were before. The number is increasing. As always, many are happy and some are sad. As ever, many are poor; many are comfortably prosperous, some are rich. Times change, but these main facts do not change with them.

Electric Sparks.

Now isn't that too bad. A rector of a fashionable church of Lenox, Mass., has barred reporters from his church. Guess he thinks they do not need religion. Perhaps they don't—any more than he and some of his congregation.

Rumor says that the republic of Liberia is about to confer upon Booker T. Washington the order of African Redemption. It couldn't honor a worthier citizen.

New York state has an excitable parson who holds that John D. Rockerfeller is a worse man than Benedict Arnold ever was. At least he has been much more successful.

In about two weeks now wheelbarrow stunts and peanut rolling performances will be in order.

Wonder if Ernie F. thinks he is running for Congress this year.

The ancients in political battles find it impossible to keep out of the fray, either in their own names, or backing men parties, while pretending to be vitally interested in the one that sent them to office in the past.

Tee! He! Our democratic friends are quite hopeful of electing part of their ticket. They depend upon republicans to do it.

With all, it does not seem that Hiskell contributed as much as $100. Perhaps he thinks he did enough for the Bryan cause when he retired from it, by request.

The allegation of fewer automobile run-overs raises a question as to the cause. Have the pedestrians become more proficient in dodging?

Another thing that makes man realize that time is passing along is to come across that opera hat which he used to be willing, and sometimes even eager, to wear.

A libel suit began in a Nebraska court by a citizen of Oklahoma against a citizen of New York for a speech made in Tennessee and published by a newspaper in Illinois, come pretty nearly being eligible for removal to the United States courts as [inter-State commerce.

One is tempted to think that that war scare about the Balkans was just another fake by the London newspapers. This time they also took a crack at Emperor Billy of Germany.

The young Chicagoian who blames his downfall on wine, women and song needn't drag in the song. The man who goes to the dogs doesn't do so because of his fine ear for music.

Some men have become so used to the new style hats the girls are wearing that they have quit crossing the street when they see one coming.

It might help along the jury reform business a good deal too, if some eminent citizens could so arrange their health that they wouldn't get sick enough to require the treatment of a doctor's certificate as soon as a summons for jury duty is served on them.

First Case Under New Law.

Six thousand dollars was the amount of damages awarded by a jury in the United States district court at Spokane, Washington, to Charles N. Roush, a brakeman, who sued the Great Northern Railway company for $15,000 damages under the employer's liability act. This was the first case tried in Washington under the statute passed by the legislatue of 1907, becoming a law last June, and, as a similar action, instituted by Stephen S. Shielfd against the same company, was settled out of court after the jurors returned a sealed verdict in the Rousch suit, it is not believed the company will take further contest. Rousch was crushed while coupling cars at Deer Park, near there, and alleged in his complaint that the engineer was intoxicated while on duty in the locomotive. The new law applies only in interstate commerce cases. It does away with the negligence of fellow employes and modifies the doctrine of contributary negligence, upon which plea by the defendants early every case insituted in the last few years has been thrown out by the federal court.

Tragedy of a Kiss.

An Atchison romance: He had not known her long, but as she stood in the moonlight a white dress and a blue sash set off her figure so well that he thought he had never seen a prettier picture. And then he did an awful thing: he kissed her. The innocent girl shrank from him in horror and the young man realized that he had Gone Too Far. Indeed, as the panting girl strove to collect herself sufficiently to express the scorn surging in her bosom the young man thought of the beating he must endure the next day from her father and brothers and of the long accounts of the flight that would appear in the newspapers. Fortunately, he had his hat in his hand and turned to go. But the girl struggled to speak; she would express her contempt for his action though it killed her. "When," she said, in a low, faltering voice, full of deep-seated hatred, "are you coming again?"—Atchison Globe.

Is New York Going "Song Mad?"

Busy New Yorkers may race for the almighty dollar by day, but when night comes they demand music—the best and lots of it. Of the musical plays now drawing "crowded houses," Lulu Glaser's "Mademoiselle Mischief," the Lyric, is perhaps offering the theatre goers the catchiest music. Their best song is so good that arrangements have been made to have it printed—both words and music—as a special feature in next Sunday's New York World. FOR YOU, YOUNG MAN

The Christian Union Herald's Call to "Young People" to Vote for the Prohibition Standard Bearers.

The Christian Union Herald, the organ of the young people's movement in the United Presbyterian church, a very influential paper of wide circulation, says to its readers:

"For years the advocate of temperance, when urging the Christian voters to record their convictions on this most vital matter, have received the answer:

"Wait, wait, wait. Wait until the tariff question and the currency question, and every other question that could be trumped up, has been settled; then we can take up the temperance question." And we have waited, and waited, and waited—until our hearts have grown sick and faint; waited while every year the number who are carried into a drunkard's grave and a drunkard's hell has grown fearfully larger year by year; waited while wives have been crying out because of the oppression under which their lives are being ground down to earth, waited while children are crying [illegible] are being blighted by the overshadowing curse. Oh, must we wait forever? If our hopes are placed in the old dominant parties, we hope in vain—unless enough Christian people register their convictions to convince the old parties that they must take up this issue or die. When will there be a better time, young people, for you to cast your ballot for God and home and native land than by casting your vote for Chafin and Watkins, the standard bearers for Prohibition in 1908?"

FEEBLE OLD LADY

Has Strength Restored By Vinol

Mrs. Michael Bloom of Lewistown, Pa., who is 80 years of age, says: "For a long time I have been so feeble that I have had to be wheeled around in an invalid's chair. I had no strength and took cold at the slightest provocation, which invariably settled on my lungs, and a cough would result. My son learned of the cod liver preparation called Vinol, and procured a bottle for me. It built up my strength rapidly, and after taking three bottles I am able to do most of my work, and I can walk a quarter of a mile easily. Every aged or weak person who requires strength should try Vinol. I am delighted with what it has done for me."

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, and after sickness, Vinol is unexcelled. If it fails to give satisfaction we will return your money.

CORKS HAVE DISEASES.

Caused by a Small Worm Which Spoils the Flavor of the Best Wines.

"To the average person a cork is a cork," said a well known restaurant man the other day. "But smell this cordial. Would you believe it?" And he held up a bottle supposed to have the bouquet of cherries all the way from the blossom to the pit. The odor was musty and altogether unpleasant—in fact, it was decidedly bad. He continued:

"Now, the man paying 20 cents for his tiny glass of cordial after dinner is entitled to have it free from imperfections. If he bought a bottle of wine with that flavor, he would say the wine was bad, for ninety men out of a hundred know nothing about bad corks. He would want another bottle of wine or his money refunded, and he would be right.

"The defect is in a tiny worm in the cork that is often invisible to the man cutting corks and sometimes cannot be seen after the cork is drawn. A customer will taste the wine and say, 'Bad wine.' You explain about the cork, and he will say: 'Impossible. That was a beautiful cork—beautiful.' And yet we know that the contents of the bottle never could have that flavor under other conditions.

"I tell you there [illegible] here waiting for the man who can invent a perfect cork that will stand the test of years for flavor and preserving qualities. If it could be proved that his invention was perfect, he would make millions in a month."—New York Herald.

MRS. ANDREW JOHNSON.

The Life In Washington Was Not a Happy Time For Her.

Mrs. Johnson was so much of an invalid that outside of intimate family friends very few knew her. She appeared only twice in public during her husband's administration. Still, her influence was a strong one, and it was exerted in the direction of toleration and gentleness. A slight movement of her hands, a touch on her husband's arm, a "Now, Andrew," made it easy to see that the woman who had helped him through his struggling youth and given her health to his service, who had taught him to write and had read to him through long winter evenings in the little tailor shop that his active mind might be fed while he was practicing his trade, still held her place in his life. She was a sweet faced woman who showed traces of beauty through the sharpened lines caused by the old fashioned consumption which was wearing her out. Her face was not unlike that of the late Mrs. McKinley. The death of her eldest son was a blow from which she never fully recovered. The life in Washington was not a happy time for her. She told me herself that she was far more content when her husband was an industrious young tailor.—William H. Crook in Century.

Nubar Pasha and the Pipes.

Soon after the occupation of Cairo by the British troops the late Nubar Pasha took a prodigious fancy to the music of the Black Watch and had the idea of having a servant taught the use of the bagpipes. Nubar dispatched a French friend, who spoke English very well, to interview a piper on the subject.

Donald replied: "Weel, he micht learn or he micht no'. But, let me tell ye, it needs wind an' mickle strength tae fill the bags o' the pipes an' keep blawin'. See if yin o' thae Egyptian chaps took the job on be'd need tae be handcuffed a' ow're like yin o' thae auld mummies, or maybe be'd burst himsel'."

This conversation was reported to Nubar, who took the piper's remarks seriously. So he gave up the idea of having a skirling attached to his household, as the use of the bagpipes was attended with the prospect of such danger to the performer.—Westminster Gazette.

Depth of Cyclones.

From the study of clouds an official of the United States weather bureau concludes that ordinary cyclones which traverse our country from west to east are not more than two or three miles in depth, although their diameter is many hundreds of miles. In other words, their motion does not affect the upper regions of the atmosphere. In the case of hurricanes this authority finds that the depth is greater, amounting to as much as five or six miles. But higher currents blow directly across the cyclonic and anticyclonic areas which produce storms and fair weather at the surface of the earth.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Easy Money.

Theodore Hook was one of the Garrick club's most famous members. He generally arrived at the club late in the afternoon and "never went home till morning." He had been told by the doctors, he said, to avoid the night air. A member of the club to Hook's time predicted the advent of the millennium at the end of three years. "All right," cried Hook. "Give me a five pound note now, and I will repay you £50 at the millennium."

Dangerous.

Giles—How's your son gettin' on up in Lunnon? Garge—Very well. He tells me he's got a job partly behind the counter and partly out o' doors. Giles—And what 'appens when the door slams?—London Telegraph.

Makes Cowards of Us All.

There is nothing from which even the bravest man shrinks so pitifully as the lancet of the surgeon, even when it is wielded by the most skillful of his craft.—London Sketch.

Making More Than a Living

Nearly every man who works steadily makes more than a living. During these slow times the men who have saved something appreciate what it is to have something laid away for a rainy day. A few cents a day soon counts up, and when savings are placed in a bank at a tidy interest the sum soon grows to proportions that make it a safeguard against want when work is not plentiful. Figure up how much more than a living you are making now, and place the difference in this bank. Four per cent. interest paid in savings department.

BRIDGE BONDS ARE ACCEPTED

The county commissioners have received word from Hayden-Miller and Co., of Cleveland, O., that they have fully inquired into the bonds of the county recently awarded them upon [illegible] and that they find them all right and will take the issues at the bid made. The amount of the bond issue is $125,000, and the money derived from the sale will be used in paying this county's share in the erection of the bridge over the Monongahela river at Monongahela.

Following the opening of the bids and the awarding of the bonds to the Cleveland firm there was some little hitch over the constitutionality of the act under which the bonds were authorized. The question hinged on the point that the act providing for the issuance of the bonds for bridge building by the county commissioners was not included in the governor's call for the meeting of the legislature, at which meeting the bond issuing law was issued. The company has evidently decided that everything is satisfactory.

The Fort Pitt Bridge company, of Canonsburg, has been awarded the contract for the erection of the bridge, and unless there is some hitch in Allegheny county there appears to be nothing to hinder the signing up of the contract for the erection of the bridge.

COMES OUT FOR SCHOOL PHYSICIANS

State Superintendent of Public Instruction Schaeffer comes out flatfooted for medical inspection of pupils and the establishment of medical aid and nurses for schools where large numbers of pupils are gathered. He discusses the retardation of pupils in the second section of his report and lays the blame for considerable of it on physical defects.

The doctor says: "Justice to the child demands that everything possible should be done, at public expense, if need be, to remedy defects of eye and ear. Children are the most precious heritage of the commonwealth and the neglect of their physical well-being is today a source of the greatest waste of our national resources."

Dr. Schaeffer also declares that many of the counties are so large and the schools so numerous that superintendents cannot give them the supervision they should have, and urges appropriation by local authorities to employ assistants, as is done in Allegheny county, whose policy he commends.

Stone Road

A good stone road is now being built by the Ellsworth company from the Yannacci store to Ellsworth. This with other improvements will give Bentleyville good roads to Beallsville, Charleroi and Ellsworth.

A PRECARIOUS EXISTENCE.

Mental Tribulations of the Superstitious Woman.

The superstitious woman started to go downtown, but found that she had forgotten something. It was hard work to get her to go back for it, but when she did sat down for a few minutes to "take the curse off" before going out again. On the sidewalk she passed a cross eyed man and had hard work to keep from spitting three times over her left shoulder. The first car that came along was No. 13. She let it go by and waited eight minutes for another. On the way downtown she remarked to a friend that she "had been in excellent health lately." Instantly she was obliged to loose her glove and rub her bare palm on the wood of the bench before her. As she and her friend were walking on Twenty-third street some thoughtless person darted between them. The superstitious woman was much disturbed and worried over the thought of a coming separation.

That night her husband upset the saltcellar. She insisted on his taking a pinch of the salt and throwing it over his shoulder. When she disrobed for the night she discovered that she had been wearing one stocking wrong side out all day. It was the sign of good luck, and it allowed her to go to bed happy. But some time in the night a dog howled dismally under her window. From that moment she has been looking for a calamity. Nothing will make her believe that there will not soon be a death in her immediate family.—St. Louis Republic.

When the Rules Let Up.

Two young women of stolid, common sense appearance were the sole feminine occupants of a subway car until there entered a dashily dressed girl, with face made up like a cosmetic advertisement and accompanied by a young man attired in the "extreme." The two young women eyed the newcomer with interest while they continued their conversation. The train slowed down at the next station, the rattle and bang of operation ceased and the voice of one of the young women became suddenly audible:

"If I had a face like that, do you know what I'd do? I'd hock it."

The girl with the makeup looked daggers, her escort looked foolish, the speaker looked out of the window and a dozen passengers looked as though they enjoyed it.—New York Globe.

His Insigniz.

The mayor of Z. is a self made man, and, as in the case of so many of that kind, not too much attention was paid to his early education. A little while ago a gentleman who was engaged in compiling a work on corporation regalia wrote to his worship requesting a photograph of his insignia. The mayor by return of post replied that he was only too pleased to accede to the other's wish. "But," he wrote, "instead of a mere photograph I beg to send you the genuine article." And there followed immediately underneath in good round copperplate the mayoral signature.—London Answers.

Circumstances Alter Cases.

Lady (entering breathless)—I want to stop the divorce suit! Lawyer—Why, you said your husband was an abominable, beastly brute and you wanted to be rid of him at any cost! Lady—Oh, yes; I know. But now an automobile has run over him, and I want you to start suit for damages.—Lippincott's Magazine.

He Smoked.

[illegible] pipe, young man?" queried the stern father of a precocious five-year-old.

"Mamma said if I teased the cat again she'd make me smoke for it," explained the little fellow, "and I teased her again."—Chicago News.

After all, it is the imponderables that move the world—heat, electricity, love.—Holmes.
